

Welding Open House

About 50 people attended the welding department's open house on the evening of April 28. Students and faculty were on hand to demonstrate welding techniques and to answer questions about the program.